By GEORGE LAIT
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS, In Libya, June 3.—

British Imperial forces in Libya have scored a 30 mile westward advance in a counter-drive to German Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's offensive, the British command for Libya announced today.

The British occupied Rutunda Segnali, Axis strong point 30 miles west of the main positions, on June 1 after a successful advance, the communiqué said.

Seek To Close In

The westward British thrust through the desert has enabled Imperial forces to harass the Axis supply lines from the west, while other British armored units are engaged in an effort to close in on German and Italian tank concentrations.

Last evening in New Wilmington, two patriotic youths were to be seen riding about the town in a horse-drawn carriage (convertible). A sign on the back of the "buggy" contained a huge V and asked others to "be patriotic."

Heavy rains of the past week have started weeds growing in gardens and flower beds, and folks who have gardens are going to have a real job cutting out the weeds as soon as the ground gets dry enough to get onto it and work it again.

Two Benjamin Franklin junior high school girls, Ruth Cramer of 210 North Ray street, and Marian Hemming of Gardner, in taking a short-cut home across a field, came upon a mottled turtle. MOSCOW, June 3.—The main action on the Russian front was reported today to have shifted to the Kalinin sector where the Red army has pushed a wedge deep into the German lines north-west of Smolensk. Military observers in Moscow described the action on the Kalinin front as "feeling" by both sides.

Congress And War Planners Are Split On Gas Rationing

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The split between Congress and the nation's war planners on the issue of national gasoline rationing widened today as the capital looked to the office of facts and figures for some new development in the picture.

Speculation arose that the O.P.F. may have been delegated to draft a nation-wide campaign to impress upon the motoring public the imperative need for conserving tires and the logical necessity therefore of gasoline rationing.

Long Session

O.P.F. Director Archibald MacLish attended yesterday's two and one-half hour session of the war production board which led to a statement by W.P.B. Czar Donald M. Nelson that there was a

Triple-Winged Attack Is Made On Jap Bases

(International News Service)

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS, In Australia, June 3.—A new triple-winged attack has been launched on Japanese bases to the north of the Australian mainland, a communiqué from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced today. Enemy strongholds were bombed on New Britain, Timor and the Solomon Islands.

Huge fires were started at Tulagi in the Solomon Islands, the communiqué reported. Off-bombed Rabaul on New Britain Island was again heavily raided. The airport was the chief target. Enemy barracks on Timor were demolished by the rain of United Nations bombs, and other military installations were set afire.

One United Nations plane failed to return from the raid on Timor. Heavy losses inflicted on Japanese planes attacking the United Nations base at Port Moresby, New Guinea, apparently have slowed down the enemy offensive. Sixteen attacking planes were destroyed or damaged in the two most recent Japanese attacks on that port.

Two Billions For Defense

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Adding almost two billion dollars to the nation's war account, the house appropriated committee today reported the seventh supplemental defense appropriation bill—including $1,037,500,000 for aviation plants and submarines.

The committee eliminated $1,115,000,000 in proposed contractual authority for 500,000 tons of naval auxiliary vessels but the measure is expected to be amended from the floor to provide that amount, as requested Monday by President Roosevelt.

As it stands, the bill will bring to $163,000,000,000 the total amount authorized or appropriated for war purposes over a three year period.

NEW YORK, June 3.—There are two distinct schools of thought at this time in regard to the spring-summer Axis offensives.

The first one is of the opinion that Hitler has launched no major offensive in Russia, and that he is preparing and ready to strike somewhere against the Soviet line, possibly at Moscow.

It is likewise claimed that the recent Nazi tank attack in Libya

Dinner Tribute For F. L. Burton

Franklin High Teachers Have Dinner To Honor City Superintendent-Elect

Seventy-five teachers of Ben Franklin junior high school honored their principal, Frank L. Burton, now superintendent-elect of city schools, at a congratulatory dinner at New Castle Field club last night. The entire faculty and several guests attended, and two members of the teaching force now in the armed services sent letters.

Colorful table and candle decorations at dinner were in the Franklin colors, blue and gold. So was the souvenir booklet issued for the occasion.

Program Presented

A quartet, composed of James Bowman, Leslie Roberts, Francis DeSanctis and Harold Vance, sang several numbers, among them one dedicated to the man in whose honor the banquet was held.

Before Principal Burton received a handsome gift of luggage from his teachers, three of the faculty, Miss Mary Scherger, Miss Margaret B. Hanna and Miss Lois Kerr reminisced about Franklin school events of the past. Miss Scherger served as mistress-of-ceremonies.

Miss Scherger explained that the evening tribute was in no sense a farewell, but instead a testimonial to the leadership and personality of the man who on July 1 becomes head of all the New Castle schools.

Mr. Burton has been principal at

Pro-Nazi Shot On Paris Street

VICHY, June 3.—German authorities today widened their search for the unidentified assassin who shot and killed Albert Clement, Fascist and Pro-Nazi editor, on a Paris street corner Tuesday. Clement's wife, who was strolling with him, was wounded in the leg by the gunman who escaped on a bicycle.

The victim was editor of the newspaper "Le Peuple," which is owned by Jacques Doriot, often described as France's most fervent pro-Nazi, and who is believed in many French circles to be even closer to the German regime than Pierre Laval.

Heydrich Is Named As Master Mind In Pre-War Nazi Plots

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, June 3.—Reinhardt Heydrich, Hitler's "hanger-on" and Gestapo terrorist, today was named one of the master minds of a pre-war Nazi spy network which plotted widespread sabotage and espionage in the United States as trial of three Nazi spies suspects opened in federal court.

The sensational revelations were made in the signed statement of Dr. Hans Helmut Gros, American-born suspect, which was introduced in court by Federal Agent Patrick Horan.

Horan said Dr. Gros made the statement last Jan. 26 after he was arrested along with his wife, Mrs.

Grocers Here Registering For Food Stamp Licenses

Fifty-one Lawrence county grocers registered for licenses last night at the court house with Surplus Marketing Administrator Erbeck that will enable them to handle food stamps when the long-anticipated plan finally goes into effect.

The food dealers present had the plan explained to them in detail and all of them petitioned for licenses. Each received window cards and delcomanias.

The food stamp plan is an attempt to increase the purchasing power for food of those families who are on relief. It benefits farmers by helping them get rid of their surpluses at fair prices, it benefits grocers, wholesale and retail, by increasing volume of sales, and it benefits the needy by bringing them more and healthier foods.

LONDON, June 3.—The industrial city of Essen in Germany's Ruhr Valley was blasted again last night by a strong force of Royal Air Force bombers, it was officially announced today.

The announcement said 14 bombers were missing from the operation.

The second consecutive night raid undoubtedly was designed to knock out vital sections of the vast Krupp munitions and steel works which may have escaped damage Monday night.

Several formations of bombers and fighters crossed the southeast coast at 12:30 p. m. this afternoon and headed for the occupied continent to continue round-the-clock bombings of Nazi-held bases.

Although the second raid on Essen and other nearby objectives was not on the 1,000-plane scale of Monday

Huge Military Stores Being Prepared

U.S. Amassing Huge Supplies

Warehouses In All Parts Of World Are Being Filled Now

PREPARING FOR U. S. OFFENSIVES

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, June 3.—Preparing swiftly but silently for the coming world-wide offensive against the Axis powers, the War Department today is assembling in warehouses scattered strategically throughout the nation the greatest store of military supplies the world has ever known.

This was indicated in an army announcement disclosing that 11 new depots will be constructed during July, August and September at undisclosed locations to augment the present vast network of storage plants "that will eventually house the huge reserves of food, munitions and other equipment needed to defeat the Axis."

"The great piles of material in the depots will be a decisive factor in sustaining the momentum of the allied offensives, when the time comes for launching them," the War Department said, significantly.

Many Warehouses Built

During the past year scores of warehouses ranging in capacity from 1,500,000 to 5,000,000 square feet have been erected near army training centers, coastal cities and ports of embarkation, and now are being filled with supplies of everything "from needles to poison bolts."

Pledged to keep the United Nations and Russia supplied with food and military supplies, America also must now keep a steady stream of goods flowing to its own expeditionary forces throughout the world as well as to the rapidly growing army at home.

Scope of the task is indicated by the fact that the nation's army is expected to be increased to 4,500,000 men by the end of this year. This was predicted recently by Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, who also said that American troops again "will land in France."

According to the War Department, the warehouses now in use "are meeting current needs by maintaining a continual flow of thousands of tons of supplies daily for the troops in training at home, for the United States forces in distant outposts, and for the allied nations."

Maybe the bureau chief who schemes to get power is a patriot. If he alone is smart, the more power he has the safer we are.

HEYDRICH IS NAMED AS MASTER MIND IN PRE-WAR NAZI PLOTS

secure an American passport through the American consulate in Berlin, Gros said he joined the German secret service in order to return to the land of his birth.

The suspect declared that his uncle, Major Hans Bebert, appointed him a captain in the German intelligence and instructed him to establish residence on America's west coast and organize an "information center."

Before he left for America, Gros said, he renewed his friendship with Heydrich, then head of the Reich security service. Heydrich, destined to become one of the most hated men in Europe, ordered him to organize sabotage on ships, railroads and to stir up labor trouble in the United States.

Bebert also instructed the American-bound intelligence officer to "reach" such labor leaders as John L. Lewis and Harry Bridges to see if he could make them helpful to Germany," the statement disclosed.

"I sailed from Bremerhaven in July, 1939," Dr. Gros said, "but I had no intention of carrying out any orders to conduct espionage, see Bridges or Lewis or take part in sabotage."

Due to work of lifting street cars, the work of removing rails on Highland avenue is nearing completion, and within a few days all will have been taken out and the rail trenches filled with concrete. Whether or not resurfacing of the street will follow in the near future is not known.

NO GREAT OFFENSIVE BELIEVED LIKELY

of the build-up of the Axis nations. This has always been the direct result of over-optimism.

The wise commanding general, regardless of his objectives, always is prepared for the greatest success on the part of his enemy. In other words, the worst that could happen to his own forces. The most serious strategic error that can be made in war is to underestimate your enemy. The general in command must assume that his opponents are well prepared, will act aggressively and with complete intelligence.

The second school of thought believes that Khar'kov, Kerch and Libya, were started as major offensives and that they have been stopped; just as they think that the latest fighting in the Coral Sea killed an attempted Japanese invasion of Australia.

Spread Optimism
Those that believe this theory have spread a wave of optimism in the United States that is not good for us under present conditions. We must have complete confidence in the future, but it is entirely necessary to steel our minds to yet face desperate fighting and make ourselves realize that the final results of victory may not be attained as quickly as some of our "wishful thinking" leads us to believe.

Censorship is, and should be, of such a nature that it is impossible at this time for anyone not actually on the staff of the supreme command to grasp the full world-wide war picture, and from it really make a correct strategic analysis. No one knows except in outline the distribution of the armed forces of the United Nations. No one has any real ideas as to the state of their armaments and it is only known in a general way that the flow of supplies and war material is effect. Whether it has as yet reached a sufficient volume is unknown. The success of the democratic depends on supply.

I am of the opinion, as I have written a number of times, that the Axis blitzkriegs are stopped. That in this summer of 1942 there will be no terrific break-throughs for great gains of territory, overrunning of whole countries in a few days, such as occurred during the first two years of the war.

It is entirely possible that the major Axis offensives, both in the west and east, have not as yet been launched, and I agree fully that this is the state of mind all our citizens must adopt.

But I am still convinced that at this moment Hitler's back is broken, that he defeated himself when he invaded Russia, and that even though the pendulum of his success may still swing higher it is just as surely going to descend to his doom and the doom of Nazism.

Thus far there have been 18 rounds signed up for the navy in the week's drive.

Thursday night is Baseball Night at Marshall field (formerly Elder's field). Two picked teams will battle it out with Frankie Frisch calling the balls and strikes. Other Pirates expected here will be Hans Wagner, Elbie Fletcher, Al Lopez and Vince DiMaggio.

Friday night the activities move to Bessemer and on Saturday night the week's events close with a huge parade and a mass induction ceremony in the Cathedral. Lieutenant E. B. Korkie of Pittsburgh will spear the recruits in and Judge W. Walter Graham will make the address of the evening.

Since Hollywood sets the standard, wouldn't it be patriotic to give some pictures showing stars living the hard way to win the war?

'IT LOOKS LIKE A LOVELY HOME'

"This funeral home is lovely. It isn't gloomy like funeral parlors usually are." This is a sample of the comments made by people who come to call upon friends using our Home for Funerals.

The only important fact we need to add is that a funeral held in these beautiful surroundings costs no more than in any other New Castle establishment. Nor is there any added charge for use of this Home or the Hammond organ.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CHILDREN AND FAMILY SECRETS

Every family has its secrets which consist of little things they say among themselves, which by others could not always accurately be understood.

Adolescent children who have shared the family's pride and have acquired loyalty to the family group do not divulge these secrets. Often, little remarks are made which it is understood are not to be repeated outside the home. In a well-ordered home, where the family unit has been well cultivated, there is no need to caution, "Don't say this to anyone."

Younger children may not always prove discreet. They have not had enough experience to be able to see the value of cautious secrecy. But very often they are expected to observe practices of grown-ups in these matters and, when brought to task for alleged violation of the family confidence, are surprised to learn they had offended.

We parents should not expect too much; when the young child does repeat something which brings us embarrassment, quietly explain to him that it is not the right thing to do. But avoid saying, "I guess we will not dare to tell about everything before you." Such a remark to a child is very bad since it makes him feel he is a kind of family outcast and that interesting things will go on which he will not be allowed to hear.

Advantages Taken
Meddlesome maids and other busybodies take advantage of innocent children by questioning them concerning private matters of the family. To keep children five or six years of age from divulging family secrets, under such conditions, is almost impossible.

As a rule, however, most of the embarrassments to parents from the young child's telling things, comes when he unwittingly repeats uncomplimentary remarks he has heard uttered about some familiar person. All such humiliations could be avoided if parents made a strict rule never to speak unkindly about any absent person. How wonderful we would be if we literally lived up to such a rule!

The moment we say anything disparaging about an absent person, and then tell the child not to repeat it, we are doubling our offense to manners and morality. We have been unethical in making the uncomplimentary remark and we have announced to the child that we were doing something wrong as we commanded him to help shield us.

"A Prayer for Parents" may be had by writing me at 235 East 45th Street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

Solving Parent Problems
Q In case the mother does the family washing, should not her healthy ten-year-old son and daughter wash and iron their own clothes?
A Mothers should not be slaves for their adolescent children. No better way to harm them morally.

Q My high school boy is so hard to get up in the morning. I must call him many times and if he is late for school, he scolds me.
A Call him just once or let him call himself with a clock. If late in rising, let him get his own breakfast and take the consequences at school, hoping the school will be hard on him.

There is nothing in the numerous histories of the First World War that have been written since 1918 to show that the visits of Congressmen hastened the day of victory, that it inspired the weary doughboys to achieve new heights of valor or contributed to amity among nations or to a just and enduring peace.

In fact, these expeditions accomplished nothing more vital than the purpose of providing a trip to Europe by the Congressman at the expense of the public.

Now a similar journey is proposed for members of Congress, this time to England and for the purpose of having a war council with members of the British Parliament. There is hesitancy about going through with it because of the fear that "some people would describe the trip as a junket."

Such a characterization would be justified. There is nothing to suggest the need or the desirability of an expedition of Congressmen to England and it would be unwise to arouse the suspicion that such a journey is being undertaken without good reason.

WORKS VS. PROPAGANDA

It is interesting news from London that official British and Soviet propaganda agencies have now put into action a thorough-going program for exchange of information to help the peoples of the two countries understand each other and develop mutual confidence.

Press, radio, motion pictures and still photographs will be used to tell Russians about their British Allies. It is presumed that Russia, for its part, will instruct the British public, although offhand it would seem as if the valor of the Russian armies is about all the propaganda that is needed.

The British Ministry of Information is going to send from 300 to 500 photographs a month to Russia, and a British propaganda mission is going to start publication at Kuibyshev of a newspaper, "Britanski Soyuznik" explaining the British war efforts to the people of the Soviet Union.

Unless the mass of the Russians are more literate now than in czarist time, a newspaper will have a far more limited effect than aural or visual propaganda. Even 500 photographs a month is not much in a land that covers one-fifth of the earth's surface.

In the First World War the British had a propaganda mission in Russia, of which Sir Hugh Walpole, late British novelist, was the head. Mr. Walpole, as he was then, had a large library of classic works on English literature at his office in Petrograd, to which Russian editors were invited to have comfortable recourse.

But otherwise he found that photographs and movies were more effective than the printed word among a people of whom, at that time, 85 per cent could neither read nor write. At its best the mere problem of distributing propaganda in Russia is an enormous one.

What the United States is doing in the propaganda line in Russia is not apparent. Joseph Conrad once said that United States is a land where the art of declamation flourishes. But Russia will judge Americans not on their words, but on their deliveries of war materials and on their technical skills, much admired and imitated there. One is bound to imagine that the same standards of judgment would be applied to Great Britain.

This does not mean that propaganda is to be neglected, but Stalin is no sentimentalist. He and his armies will judge Britain and America on the basis of material results.

Under the dim-out program Broadway's vaunted designation may be changed to the Great Dark Way.

Traffic cops in New York find that under gasoline rationing there is little to do. Their vocabularies may become rusty.

War workers are to be frozen in their jobs for the duration, but not on the theory that a rolling stone gathers no moss.

JOKE ON CENSOR
A lot of silly stories have been told about messages written under postage stamps to escape the censor's eye. Here's a peach of a story about the censor man. A postscript read: "Be sure and note the message under the stamp. My whole future may depend on it." Quickly the censor steamed off the stamp. Underneath he found this:

PRAYING FOR THE ENEMY
The boob visitor approached the soldier and asked:

"My good man, you are now ready to die for your country, aren't you?"

"Naw," replied the good man. "But I'm ready to help some German die for his!"

Very often the hardest thing people have to do is to wait for their turn and many of them are waiting for that now.

PERT AND PERTINENT
"What book will you take on your vacation?" queries an advertisement.

"—Us? We'll take our pocketbook. A free country is one in which it is perfectly safe to say what you think."

"—Unless you happen to be a thinker."

After a severe illness, a man in Detroit was absolutely unable to remember his wife and did not believe she was the one he had married.

"—Well, it is difficult for many men to realize that his wife is the same woman he once thought possessed so many virtues and no faults."

"Seventy-five per cent of men's shoes are equipped with rubber heels at the factory."

"The other 25 per cent, we suppose, take off their shoes when they come in late."

"To make a long story short," some speakers wait until they see the audience getting restless.

The bridegroom's mother should bring a list of his family and friends and the two mothers assist the bride in determining who shall receive invitations to the church only and who shall receive invitations to both the ceremony and the reception or breakfast. To the latter engraved "reception" cards must be enclosed. At this time the announcement list should also be compiled. Those having witnessed the ceremony and those invited to both the ceremony and the reception should receive no announcements.

Announcements are mailed after the ceremony on the wedding day. Announcements and invitations to the church only require no answers and no gifts to the bride. An invitation to the reception must be answered as soon as possible, accepting or declining in the third person, if the invitations is written in the third person.

Question: How long after the death of a friend should one wait before calling on the bereaved family or sending a letter of condolence?

—Nancy.
Answer: As soon as you have learned of the death you should go immediately to the house, and, if unable to see any member of the bereaved family, write "with sympathy" on your visiting card and leave it at the door. If such a call is not practicable, write a letter of condolence as soon as possible and send flowers.

Tomorrow—Bride's Linens
Miss Markel will promptly mail personal answers to questions from any reader enclosing self-addressed 3-cent stamped envelope.

Every man is entitled to his choice. He can be either a sucker or a skunk!

Gen. Speed—Aren't those newest fighter planes finished yet?
Gen. Delay—No, not exactly.
Gen. Speed—How far are you along with them?
Gen. Delay—Well, eh, we have the air all ready.

A local woman was getting ready to divorce her husband when she noticed her double chin. This caused her to remain true to him.

Teacher: What is a creditor, Robert? Young pupil: A man who must be told that daddy is not at home.

Burglars are now breaking into places to steal sugar.

Just thing of it! A man calling his wife captain!

"George," a man said one day, "you think you're full of clever tricks, but you bought a piano on the installment plan last week. You paid $5 down on it, and yesterday I saw them taking it away. What kind of a clever trick do you call that?"

It cost them $10 to move the piano," George said.

Yes, but now does that profit you?"

"It profits me $5—my son-in-law did the moving."

Irate Parent—I'm surprised that you should become infuriated with that girl. Why, she should have been able to read her like a book.

Son—Well, you see, Dad, the light was rather low.

Mrs. Noyes—Tommy, won't you have another piece of this shortcake?

Tommy—No, thank you.

Mrs. Noyes—Why, what's the matter? You seem to be suffering from loss of appetite.

Tommy—No, ma'am. It ain't loss of appetite. What I'm sufferin' from is politeness.

That Kansas woman who saved enough money out of a 10-cent weekly allowance to get a divorce ought to be a pretty good catch.

Speaking of old-fashioned things we arise to ask, "What has become of the old-fashioned butter?"

Friends are people who don't feel ill-used when you feel too rotten to be sociable.

A story is told about a congressman who came home to do some campaigning. He arrived while a parade was going on and sought to make his way through the crowd.

"Please move back and give me room," he said, elbowing into the crowd.

"Who do you think you are?" demanded a citizen.

"I am a representative of the people," the congressman said.

"Run along, then," advised the citizen. "The people are all here now and don't need anyone representing them at this parade."

News these days is when you read it.

A boy old enough to fight for his country is old enough to vote for it.

Why aren't we making wooden ships? We could chip out enough by hand if all of our chisels got busy.

Seeks Master Lend-Lease Agreement
Hull Would Accomplish Event Soon
Would Make War Impossible Later

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, June 3.—State Secretary Cordell Hull is taking steps to fool the old man with the scythe (the Grim Reaper, you know) if he can. Right now, within this prime, ere the purring knife of time cuts him down, as the late Dr. Wendell Holmes (the former supreme court justice's father) expressed it in his poem, "The Last Leaf Upon the Tree," Cordell's trial to realize the politico-economic ideal of his life—soon enough to make sure it'll keep on functioning on into indefinite futurity regardless of his own demise, even if it occurs before the present war ends, and even if the undertaker's claim on his remains has been exercised while his programs develop—he still conspires in its incipency—but too darning inept to be headed off at that late stage of the game.

Away back when he was in the house of representatives (and maybe before that, when he was a mere unofficial economist), Cordell Hull had contended that the way to prevent subsequent armed clashes between the world's countries was to get 'em mutually, upon so profitable, so all-around a commercial tie-up that they couldn't afford to fight one another.

He boosted for the same system in the senate.

Reciprocal Trade Apostle
He accepted his cabinet post as the apostle of "reciprocal trade treaties."

The plan started all right, but the tightening up of totalitarian influences threw a crimp into it. It continued to "take" in the Latin Americas, but it didn't suit the totalitarians. For that matter, due to the situation's stringency, the other hemispheres democracies became scared of it.

For quite a spell it's lagged, consequently.

Plenty of people have believed in it, but they're reasoned that just now, nothing much could be done with it. They said that, later, after the war's over, it may be all o. k.—a world-saver for coming centuries. Coming centuries! Or a generation or two.

Coming generations? Who o. k. h. it? What good'll Cordell Hull be to the coming generations? What good'll he be to the next one? He's past 70 already.

Ah, but that's what Cordell has up his sleeve—for now and later! Cordell's scheme is a bunch of ADVANCE.

He can't frame up a treaty with Germany or Japan, or Italy or any of the Axis-overrun conquered little peoples.

What Cordell wants is POST-war commercial treaties.

He wants 'em with England. That's logical. We didn't use to be commercially Anglo-American, a matter of years ago—far from it. Now, yeah! As of to date, we're all snarled up with British dependencies. Cordell's fixing all that—his easy.

Latin America's attended to. There's a lot of detail to be attended to, but it doesn't amount to much.

Russia's available. Cordell's just offered the Muscovites a bargain.

The other day the state department offered China a compact. It's called a peace-time agreement, but in fact it's a post-war dicker.

Now, when this war's over—?

Master Lend-Lease

What Noted People Say

INGLEWOOD, Calif.—Brig. Gen. James H. (Jimmy) Doolittle finally "reveals" to aviation workers the location of Shangri-la. "Don't tell a soul but Shangri-la is right here in the North American aviation plant. This is where our B-25 bombers came from."

LONDON—Air Marshal A. T. Harris, chief of the RAF bomber command welcomes American air support. "Our common enemy soon will have cause to bitterly rue the day when they forced our two countries into war."

CHICAGO—Senator James E. Murray of Montana sees ultimate victory in the bombing of Cologne. "We can safely say now that we will win the war. The duration depends on what Great Britain, America and Russia do this summer."

NEW YORK—Paul V. McNutt, chairman of the war man power commission tells members of the theatrical professional that all must help win the war. "Everyone of you have a private war to fight with Hitler and with 'is stooges in Rome and Libya. In any hour, no man or woman who loves liberty can assume a spectator role."

Do not wait till you have almost forgotten the teachings of Holy writ learned in youth. You may find it difficult to work your way back when you really need Him greatly. Seek ye the Lord while He may be found, call upon Him while He is near.—Isaiah 55:6.

Words Of Wisdom
A good man does good merely by living.—Bulwer

Daily Dozen
(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Warm days bring out the perspiration in us.

There are more than 2,000,000 sweat glands in the body.

They exude about one quart every 24 hours.

This moisture is absorbed by the air.

As it evaporates the surface of the body cools.

On hot, sultry days the air is already loaded with water.

Body moisture is not easily absorbed.

The skin is moist and sticky with perspiration.

Nature attempts to maintain a normal body temperature.

It works on the same basis as air-conditioning in buildings.

Exercise, heavy eating, nervousness bring on perspiration.

Pardon my perspiration but I'm particularly preoccupied.

Partial Blackout Being Planned

Practice Blackout To Be Arranged For Western Pennsylvania Counties

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, June 3.—Pennsylvania will have a partial practice blackout in different sections of the state on three successive nights, June 23 to 25, the State Council of Defense announced today.

Thirty-one eastern counties will be tested June 23, while 20 central counties will participate June 24 and 16 western Pennsylvania counties June 25.

Combined with the night-long partial blackout, which will not halt traffic or restrict business places properly concealing interior lights, will be a half-hour long complete blackout at a time not announced in advance, the Council said. During the surprise test, which will be initiated by the Office of Civilian Defense in co-operation with the army's first interceptor command, all traffic will halt and street lights, exterior safety lights and automobile lights must be turned off.

The exceptions to the night-long blackout in addition to local traffic and businesses operating at night, will be industries engaged in war activities, utilities, railroads, airfield beacon and obstruction lights, radio tower lights and navigation lights, the Council explained.

Central Pennsylvania counties scheduled for June 24 are: McKean, Elk, Jefferson, Indiana, Somerset, Potter, Tioga, Livingston, Cameron, Clinton, Clearfield, Centre, Cambria, Blair, Bedford, Huntingdon, Fulton, Franklin, Mifflin and Juniata.

Western counties for June 25 are: Erie, Crawford, Mercer, Lawrence, Beaver, Washington, Greene, Warren, Forest, Venango, Clarion, Butler, Armstrong, Allegheny, Westmoreland and Fayette.

Air Wardens Get Facts On Duties

Meeting Held Tuesday Night At City Hall—To Name Wardens

City Civilian Defense Director D. O. Davies and Chief Air Warden for the city, Frank T. Sargent, today reported that last night's meeting at city hall of persons interested in becoming air wardens was highly successful.

Director Davies introduced Sargent, who described the duties of air wardens. He declared that air wardens would be selected from every precinct in the city.

However, prior to their appointment the persons who wish to become air wardens will attend a school to be established and after they qualify will be named for the important job.

L. B. Round, deputy director of civilian defense for Lawrence county and Frank Hill, secretary of the county civilian defense board delivered interesting talks concerning defense.

It is likely that a large number of the persons who attended last night's meeting will also attend the meetings tonight at George Washington Junior high school.

The Joy Gardens Has Never Been A Gambling House

I did pay my suspension fine, not for a gambling house BUT FOR A PINBALL MACHINE. Many business places in the city had them. This occurred last December when all pinball machines were taxed and displayed where everyone could see them.

It has been rumored, since our suspension, that the Joy Gardens was a private gambling room. THIS IS A VERY FALSE RUMOR. The Joy Gardens has been and will continue to be one of Western Pennsylvania's finest night clubs.

I hope that this will clear all the false rumors that have been circulating around the city.

Thank You.

ALIMONY MAY NOW BE TAXED

By ARTHUR F. HERMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The House Ways and Means committee was reliably reported today to have written a new taxing provision into the pending war revenue measure making the receiver of alimony pay taxes on such income.

Henceforth, the person who paid the alimony had to pay the tax as well, because such payments were not permitted to be deducted from personal incomes.

The committee's tentative decision represents a victory for thousands of America's ex-husbands who have long considered the treasury's policy on alimony taxation as one of the most unfair of all tax regulations.

Another far-reaching provision approved by the committee covered the charge-off for bad debts. In the past, a bad debt could not be deducted from personal income until the statute of limitations had established that the debt could not be collected.

In the future, according to the committee's new regulation, these debts may be charged off in the tax year in which they become bad, thus permitting earlier realization of the tax benefits from such deductions.

The committee has been engaged in drafting the $8,700,000,000 war revenue bill, and current deliberations center around so-called "administrative changes" designed to remove inequities in the present tax laws.

HOLC Foreclosures Increase In Nation

Many Are Reported In New York State—Losses Are Sustained

By WALTER KIERNAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, June 3.—Despite increased and steadier employment at generally higher wage levels, the government-sponsored Home Owners' Loan corporation is still piling up a property ownership record to say more impressive than its depression record.

In New York state alone where 80,145 loans were made, 32,607 properties or 40 per cent of the total either have been foreclosed by the corporation, deeded to it or abandoned.

As of April 30, 1942, the latest figure obtainable today, the corporation owns 16,942 properties in New York state and has sold an additional 15,665 properties at an estimated book loss of $2,000 each exclusive of repair and selling costs, commissions and incidentals.

The HOLC sank an initial three billion dollars into depression financing of small home mortgages throughout the nation on the theory that they could be saved for their owners.

The experience of the New York state office, now absorbed in a regional office, is interesting.

The office put $411,000,000 into 80,145 loans. It has gotten back to date $2,445,978 or about 16 per cent in mortgage payments including $9,092,355 which represented 2,590 mortgages paid in full.

Against the monies coming in has been a steadily increasing list of non-payers.

As far back as October, 1939, there were almost 20,000 borrowers who had fallen behind in their payments.

At that time, the corporation already had taken over 23,633 properties, and disposed of 3,671. The April, 1942, figures indicated that in the intervening two and a half years, another 10,000 homes have been taken over by the government corporation.

What the eventual cost of the HOLC will be is unfathomable.

In the first three years of its existence it put $33,000,000 into repairs, maintenance, insurance, etc., and it now has been functioning for six years and owns much more property today than it did then.

CONGRESS AND WAR PLANNERS ARE SPLIT ON GAS RATIONING

"chance" for an announcement on national gasoline rationing before next Tuesday—the board's next meeting date.

MacLeish was asked by Nelson to attend the W.P.B. session, at which the plan of Defense Transportation Director Joseph B. Eastman for transportation rationing of rubber-tired vehicles was thoroughly discussed. With him at the meeting were three O.P.F. assistants.

The O.P.F. chief denied that there was any special significance to his presence at the meeting and said that it was part of O.P.F.'s functions to coordinate inter-departmental activities.

It was pointed out, however, that MacLeish has seldom, if ever before, attended a meeting of the W.P.B. One W.P.B. representative observed that, at least, he may have been called in to "devise means for coordinating better the statements on rubber and gasoline rationing."

Seek Rubber Round-Up

Meantime, rate senators and representatives vigorously pushed legislation to force a nation-wide roundup of scrap rubber in an effort to meet the tire shortage by recapping worn tires.

Senator Ellender (D., La.), and Rep. Patman (D., Tex.), have introduced companion measures providing for a deputy price administrator to have charge of the rubber tire situation and designating the country's 40,000 tire dealers as collectors for the scrap rubber.

Motorists would be required to turn in an old tire before receiving a retreaded one.

"Nation-wide rationing of gasoline to save rubber would be outrageous in view of the fact that there is ample scrap rubber in the country to take care of all our rubber tire needs for the duration of the war," Ellender said.

The Louisiana senator said spreading his proposal was "sweeping through Congress like wildfire."

Speaker Rayburn (D., Tex.), previously has labeled national gasoline rationing as "nonsense."

INDUSTRIAL CITY IN GERMANY GETS SECOND PASTING

day night a heavy pounding was dealt to war important industrial centers.

Smoke And Ground Haze E Considerable smoke and ground haze over the Essen district made observation of results of last night's raid and today's attack difficult.

The weather was better than on the previous night, however, and it was believed that good results were obtained by the British bombers.

(Some time before the official British announcement the German radio broadcast a DNB German news agency dispatch stating that R. A. F. bombers had attacked towns in western Germany for the second consecutive night. It was claimed in Berlin that 12 R. A. F. planes were destroyed.)

In retaliation the Luftwaffe returned to the Cathedral City of Canterbury to carry out the second bombing of that historic site within three days.

Attack English Town Another southeast English coastal town also was attacked.

Anti-aircraft defenses at Canterbury forced the German raiders to drop their bomb loads indiscriminately. Three of the Nazi craft were shot down.

Air raid precaution squads smothered hundreds of incendiary bombs dropped by the Germans and few fires resulted.

High explosives destroyed some residences and business property. A church and a number of houses were burned out.

Considering the weight of the attack on Canterbury casualties were said to be extraordinary light. Rescuers brought out five dead from one house.

Just before dawn streams of R. A. F. bombers were seen returning to England from across the channel and it was thought that another multi-squadron of 1,000 planes had scoured over Germany.

The throb of motors was continuous and suggested a large force had been over the continent," one observer said.

Large Number Of Planes The returning planes required more than an hour to pass above a given point.

The second consecutive attack against Essen and its vital war industries, including the huge Krupp munitions plant and Reich Marshal Hermann Goering's steel works, was carried out while a pall of smoke still hovered over the city from the previous night's mammoth assault.

R. A. F. bombers heavily blasted the neighborhood of Cap Griz Nez across from Dover after midnight. Explosions on the French side shook houses on the Kent coast of England and fires were visible in the distance.

A great pall of smoke rose over the Calais area after other R. A. F. planes rained the region about 10 p. m.

Revealing for the first time the scope of Britain's round-the-clock attacks on Nazi-held territory, an official announcement said today that during the past month 7,700 daylight sweeps have been made over occupied France. An average of 250 R. A. F. fighters have been used in the raids daily.

So far this year, it was disclosed, the equivalent of 15 German squadrons have been destroyed by R. A. F. daylight sweeps.

He had one year and six weeks taken off his sentence for good behavior.

Furniture Plants Being Converted To War Production

(International News Service)

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., June 3.—Master craftsmen in the production of furniture have already started the job of converting the facilities of the furniture capital of the world to the manufacture of war equipment.

More than a dozen big firms in the furniture and allied industries have formed two war production "pools" in an effort to get war jobs, the war production board disclosed today.

Equipment that once made chairs, tables and office furniture is being geared to produce weapons of war. Ernest Kautzer, chief of the Detroit region of the W.P.B. said:

"If these companies can turn out war materials as well as they apply Hepplewhite curves—and I am sure they can, their war products may become as world renowned as their furniture."

BRITISH FORCES MAKE 30 MILES DRIVE IN LIBYA

trations caught at the eastern end of a northern gap in the desert mine fields.

The Axis, it was announced, succeeded in occupying an undiscovered area between the two gaps of the British mine field.

Considerable fighting was reported west of Knightsbridge, below Acroma, on the northern sector of the 60-mile front.

The British command announced that a new Axis attack against Bir Hacheim on the southern flank had failed. Fighting raged at Bir Hacheim through yesterday.

Sand Storms Develop Sand storms hampered both air and land operations.

In the Knightsbridge area the Axis forces were reported caught at the eastern end of a mile-wide gap through the mine fields.

German Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's panzer units were embattled on a line which they continued to hold east of the mine field entrance. The Axis tanks were screened by strong artillery positions.

Although Rommel still was in command of a formidable force despite the heavy losses of tanks and other equipment the British held the initiative. British tank forces, including American "General Grant" tanks, smashed at the Axis forces without let-up.

The principal clash was below Knightsbridge, south of Acroma. While German artillery batteries strove to hold the line east of the gap German tanks and motor trucks attempted to pierce through the gap back to original positions held in the west before start of the eastward drive aimed at Tobruk.

The Axis has lost at least 260 tanks, half of Rommel's original force. The total of tanks, transport vehicles and other mechanized equipment destroyed by British air action alone was placed at 1,000.

Berlin broadcasts claimed that 451 British tanks had been destroyed in three days and many others damaged south of Tobruk.

In the three-day battle below Knightsbridge a small British force managed to hold the Nazis east of the mine fields until stronger Imperial units could be brought up in an attempt to destroy the Axis units.

The "General Grant" tanks, making their first appearance in the desert fighting, were doing a splendid job. The strong tanks, equipped with 75 millimeter cannon and other guns, took the Nazis completely by surprise.

What Causes Your Constipation?

The super-refined foods we eat these days too often do not give us enough "bulk food." And medical science tells us that lack of sufficient "bulk" is one of the commonest causes of constipation.

If that is your trouble, harsh cathartics and violent purges are at best only temporary remedies. How much better to get at the cause and correct it!

Why not make sure that you are getting the "bulk" you need by eating Kellogg's All-Bran? All-Bran is a delicious, crisp cereal that millions of folks rely on for breakfast.

It is daily and drink plenty of water—not only to get regular but to keep regular. All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is not helped by this simple treatment, it's wise to see a doctor.

CCC Fund May Be Abolished

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The House appropriations committee today called for an end to the CCC program by striking a $75,000,000 appropriation for the civilian conservation corps from the labor-federal security supply bill.

The committee then reported the balance of the measure, calling for $1,058,451,660 in appropriations for carry on the work of government agencies for the 12 months beginning July 1.

No reason was given by the committee for striking the CCC appropriation from the bill.

Navy Loosens Some Entrance Regulations

Requirements for enlistment for class V-7 in the United States navy have been made less strict, so that college graduates who are married may now enlist in this class. Class V-7 is the reserve officer class; college students or graduates may enlist and become ensigns after three months special training.

The complete list of eligibles as issued by the Chief of the Bureau of Navigation follows:

1. College graduates, married or single.
2. College seniors who are single.
3. College juniors who are single and became juniors before April 15, 1942.
4. College juniors who are single and who attained junior status after April 15, 1942, provided they were over-age for enlistment in class V-1 as sophomores.

Any New Castle men with the above qualifications are asked to get in touch with Chief Ritchie at the naval recruiting office, in the Post Office, immediately.

Counsellors Chosen For Camp Fred Rentz

As registrations pour in for Camp Fred L. Rentz, Director William Winters announced this morning that the counsellor staff had been augmented by the addition of Bob England and Bob Jackson. England will once more be camp banker and storekeeper. He has been a camper for five years and will be in his second year as counsellor.

Bob Jackson will serve for the first time as a counsellor, and he will be responsible for the operation of the mess hall. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. W. Fulton Jackson, of Edgewood avenue.

Every effort to make this the most successful season in years is being made by the Y. M. C. A. authorities and the flood of registrants has overwhelmed them. All boys who want to get to camp are urged to register as soon as possible.

Canal Well Guarded, Lions Are Assured

Sergeant George Loudon, On Furlough Here, Speaker
At Luncheon

When Hirohito ordered the December 7 "sneak-up" on Pearl Harbor instead of a direct attack on the Panama Canal, he made a mistake which then and there, in his opinion, cost Japan the war. Sergeant George Loudon, New Castle resident stationed at France field in the Canal Zone, told the Lions club yesterday in The Castleton.

Sergeant Loudon said he feels no apprehension whatever over the Canal Zone, because of the protection now thrown about its 50-mile length.

He told the club the Panamanian government under President Guardia is working hand-in-hand with the United States, co-operating fully in its protection.

With Sergeant Loudon are his wife, a native of Bergen, S. D., and their daughter, Bonnie Fern Marie, who was one year old May 19, the day they sailed from Panama. Families of all army men are now being evacuated from Panama, and Mrs. Loudon and her daughter will take up residence in Bergen for the duration.

While here they are visiting Loudon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Loudon, 821 Lathrop street.

After 15 years of army life, the latter part of it in Panama, Loudon last fall laid plans to return to the States permanently on January 12, but Pearl Harbor switched those plans. He is now in the special services section at France field and is in charge of all morale, recreation and other phases of soldier life at the field.

Loudon expects to report back in New Orleans late this month.

hart and Dr. A. H. Leitch, of the congregation, have parts in the program.

hamson, who retired April 1 after serving the congregation more than 20 years.

West Pittsburg Shaves Croton's City League Lead

"Gashouse Gang" Blanks Bessemer, 6-0; Indies Tie Croton, 4-4

As the torrid first half City Baseball league marathon draws to a close, West Pittsburg's hard hitting aggregation is proving itself one of the "hotties" of the loop.

In one of the two clashes un-corked Tuesday night, the "Gashouse Gang" moved up a couple of notches by goose-egging Bessemer, 6-0 on Bessemer high field. While West Pittsburg was hopping nimbly into second place, Croton and the Lawrence Indies battled to a tie, 4-4. Other games were rained out.

ZERO STRAIGHT THROUGH

With Melchior hurling masterfully, West Pittsburg easily whipped Bessemer, 6-0.

The winner hurler dispensed four harmless hits while his mates pounced on Stanley for eight bingles. In addition, Melchior blasted a double as did A. Marky.

The triumph pushed the West Pittsburgers into second place with a 7-4 mark within reaching distance of the league leading Croton A. C. which has five out of seven tilts.

LEAGUE TIDBITS

Two postponed games will be played tonight, President Mike Donovan announced today.

On Cedar street grounds the Slovaks and Bessemer will start their conflict at 6 o'clock. Hardesty is slated to hurl for Bessemer while "Ace" Balla will likely get the nod from the Slovak park of strategy.

At the Cascade street field, the Elder A. C. and the league leading Croton A. C. two of the most bitter rivals, will clash in what shapes up as one of the hottest battles of the first half derby.

A Croton setback will skyrocket West Pittsburg into first place.

President Mike Donovan today announced that Thursday will be an open date, due to the Navy Week game billed for Marshall field.

Leo Hill today announced umpires for tonight's City Baseball league games as follows:

Bessemer at Slovaks, General and Shook.

Elders at Croton, Price and McIntyre.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Bits about this and that—

South Fork high's coach—Johnny Uram—has been inducted into the U. S. Naval Reserve officers training V-7. The Atlantic avenue resident, unquestionably one of the most versatile and among the greatest athletes in the records of New Castle high, joins the active duty list any day now.

Carm DeLone, who sits in the City-County Independent Baseball league drivers seat, today reports that Edward Gwinwald, who formerly played in the loop, is twirling with the armed forces across the pond. Thus far, the New Bedford star has flung a pair of no-hit no-run gems, according to DeLone.

Clyde Lennox, one of the most active sports enthusiasts on the local ledger until he moved his baggage to Washington, D. C. has concluded a brief visit here. Lennox, who served as deputy boxing commissar and also helped as a boxing trainer, reports doing well in the capital.

Here's an odd major league item: The Yanks sport a series edge over all their remaining foes save the St. Louis Browns. The Settimen hold a 3-2 margin over the champs.

Amateur Golfers Won't Get Bonds In Gala Tourney

Fears Of Endangering Amateur Status Forces Officials To Discard Idea

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 3—The plan of the Chicago Tam O'Shanter Club to award $500 war bonds in its All-American amateur golf tournament July 20 to 25 was abandoned today as the result of fears by many top-ranking amateurs that they could endanger their amateur status by entering the tourney.

Instead, $100 war bonds will be given the semi-finalists and the eventual winner, the latter and the runner-up getting a trophy in addition.

Announcement of the change in plans was made by George S. May, Tam O'Shanter president, who originally had defied a ruling by the United States Golf Association which said that any player participating in an event in which government securities of more than $100 in value were offered as prizes would imperil his amateur standing.

The USGA amended its rules for the duration of the war. It is now open to permit amateurs to compete for war bonds and other government securities provided they did not exceed $100 in value.

Warmerdam Enters Big Meet, June 16

(International News Service)

EVANSTON, Ill., June 3—Cornelius Warmerdam, high-sailing holder of the indoor and outdoor American pole vault records at 14 feet, 7 1/4 inches and 15 feet 7 3/4 inches, respectively, will be here for the Big Ten-Pacific Coast track meet at Northwestern University June 16.

Notice that the west coast school teacher would make another try at bettering his outdoor mark, which also is the unofficial world record, came today from Charles F. Hunter, coach of the San Francisco Olympic club.

Deweys-South Hills Will Clash Tonight

South Hills and the Deweys will await baseball blows in a City-County Independent Baseball League struggle billed for South Hills field tonight.

The strong Hillers seek to even the series score with the powerful Deweys.

YMCA CHANGES BOYS SWIMMING SCHEDULE

With the closing of school just around the corner, the YMCA announced the summer schedule for the boys' swimming classes, which follows:

Midgets—Monday, Wednesday and Saturday at 11.

Cadets—Monday, Wednesday and Saturday at 10:15.

Junior B and A—Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday at 9:30.

This schedule will go into effect on Monday, June 8. All YMCA boys are urged to note the times of their swimming periods.

SHARE IN DRILL

GREAT LAKES, Ill.—Swimming Coaches Cy Nelson and Stan Bryda at the U. S. Naval Training Station recently underwent their first drill in a whale boat on Lake Michigan. Others taking part in the whale boat drills were Benny McCoy, formerly of the Philadelphia Athletics, and Johnny Lucadello, ex-St. Louis Browns infielder, who are members of the baseball team.

Acquisition Of Robert A. from the Browns, gives the Philadelphia Athletics two Harris chukkers. The other is C. Luman who won 4 and lost 4 last season.

As of yesterday, the Chicago White Sox were still trying to cop their initial decision of the season over the Yankees. . . . Luke Hamlin, Kirby Higbe, Claude Passeau and Mort Cooper, all National league pitchers, all sport the hoodoo number—13—on the rear of their suits.

A longshot hunch—Bobo Newson who is losing quite consistently, will be traded soon. . . . Fred Frankhouse, now serving as a coach at Kansas City, plans a pitching comeback when the weather gets warmer. . . . Clay Bryant, the husky Chicago Cub pitcher forced out of baseball by a lame arm, is starting a rather successful comeback with Zanaville of the Mid-Atlantic circuit.

Don Griffin, prize Illinois football star, is now in Uncle Sam's Navy. . . . Buddy Bauer has quit the prize ring and is devoting most of his time to golfing. . . . St. Anselm college, which occasionally arose to kayo one of the biggest football greats, has abandoned the sport.

Belmont Stakes Saturday Classic

Alsab Will Parade To Starting Post As Favorite; Shut Out Entered

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 3—The biggest racing day in New York history may provide one of the biggest turf upsets in years!

Saturday is the day, Belmont Park is the track, and Shut Out is the horse.

This is no idle chatter or a tout service. The Belmont Stakes, hurdled in the famed triple crown of the American turf, happens to be the prize attraction of the day and the fabulous and famous Alsab happens to be the colt the largest mob ever to gather at an eastern track will send to the post as favorite.

It has been written, and we don't mean by any Arabic philosophers, that Alsab will enter home all by himself and may not be beaten for the rest of the year. This is all very well with a great majority of the citizens of this village but a young man named Wayne Wright, jockey, happens to think otherwise.

Mr. Wright, one of America's better race riders, happens to be closer to the son of Equipoise and think Shut Out will whip Alsab in the long awaited "rubber" race of this much talked-about combination.

You will recall that Shut Out won the Kentucky Derby, in which Alsab was a fast-closing second and the "Sh" came back a week later to trounce the Whitney Flyer in the Preakness stakes.

Guests Of Navy And GNCA See Bobo In Referee Role

ONE ELLWOOD YOUTH JOINS NAVY

One thousand spectators watched 14 amateur fighters disport themselves in seven bouts last night in the air-cooled Arena. They were the guests of Uncle Sam's navy and the Greater New Castle association. It was boxing night on the program.

No doubt the veteran has slowed up considerably compared to the days when he, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig dominated the majors' select circle of sluggers. Foxx still looms up as a shot in the arm for the hit-started sixth-place Bruins.

Even though he only continues his current .270 average, the big boy from Bean Town should be among the Bruins' leading hitters. Glen Russell, whom Foxx is expected to replace at first base, is leading the club with .280.

It was believed Manager Jimmy Wilson would shift Russell to the outfield to make room for the new addition. Foxx was purchased on waivers for an undisclosed sum to replace Babe Dahlgren who was sold to the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Tebbetts Seeking Army Commission

(International News Service)

DETROIT, June 3—George "Birdie" Tebbetts, Detroit Tiger catcher, will apply for a commission in the Army Air Corps, the Detroit Times said today.

The Times said it learned that Tebbetts took a physical examination at Selfridge Field, Mich., preparatory to making application.

Tebbetts is 27, single and 3-A in the draft listing at Nashua, N. H., his home town. He supports his widowed mother.

Tebbetts joined the Tigers in 1934 after graduating from law school. The Tigers farmed him out for three years, but in 1937 he became the regular Bengal catcher.

DOGERS WELL FORTIFIED

(International News Service)

NEW YORK—Arky Vaughan's acquisition by the Brooklyn Dodgers this year gives them three former National League batting champions in their starting lineup. Arky's 385 topped the parent circuit in 1935. Joe (1937) Medwick and Pete Reiser, last year's king, are the others. The other champs active in the parent loop this year are Paul (1927-34-36) Waner and Ernie (1938) Lombardi of the Boston Braves, and Georgia John (1939) Mize, Giants.

Lack Of Power Prompted Cubs To Acquire Foxx

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 3—Hard put all year for any real power at the plate, the board of strategy of the Chicago Cubs is hopefully building an offense around the bat of Jimmy Foxx, 35-year-old first baseman acquired from the Boston Red Sox in the American League.

Though the veteran has slowed up considerably compared to the days when he, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig dominated the majors' select circle of sluggers, Foxx still looms up as a shot in the arm for the hit-started sixth-place Bruins.

Even though he only continues his current .270 average, the big boy from Bean Town should be among the Bruins' leading hitters. Glen Russell, whom Foxx is expected to replace at first base, is leading the club with .280.

Filipinos Have Faith In U. S. Is Quezon's Message

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, June 3.—President Manuel Quezon of the Philippine commonwealth, in a dramatic address to the house of representatives Tuesday, gave assurances that the faith of his people in the United States remains unshaken.

Declaring that "resistance would continue until the invader is driven from our land," Quezon told the house that "we are fighting that our people may be the masters of their destiny."

He read a message addressed to the Philippine army in which he had stated, "your duty and our duty is to fight and resist—to hold in place—and hold and hold."

The Filipino president expressed confidence that President Roosevelt's pledge for the restoration of independence would be considered as the personal pledge of every member of congress.

"I hope that pledge, when the time comes, will be supported by every member," he declared.

AROUND CITY HALL

S. L. Lockley, city controller, has completed an audit of the local Free Public Library. He informed council today. He reported as follows: balance on hand January 1, 1941, $12,111.01; receipts, $30,189.62; or total, $42,300.63. Disbursements, $26,619.78, leaving a balance as of January 1, 1942, of $15,680.85. Note: Library fund disbursements of city treasurer, $25,964.93; Free Public Library receipts, $25,961.73. Receipts show, city treasurer, $25,961.73; rent received, $2,344.33; fines and payment collections, $1,560.75; and other receipts, $322.81. (Paid out: books and periodicals, $5,515.66; librarians' salaries, $11,901.59; salaries of janitors, $2,666.68; rental, $1,179.23; supplies, fixtures and repairs, $933.72; utilities and services, $1,547.78; insurance, $611.18; mortgage and interest, $1,848.81; and other expenses, $415.03.)

Private office of the police chief some times resounds with "He did" and "He didn't." In such cases the police chief usually develops when a neighborhood quarrel is carried in to police channel. Mothers fight for their offspring. No little chap is guilty. That's the maternal instinct. Usually the chief or officer in charge generally is required to step into the bazaar, parry the verbal assaults then pacify all factions. Being police chief is no easy task. He must possess Solomon-like judgment.

Decision of the council and city engineer to remove the pole and also the south angle at the top of State street hill certainly will meet with the approval of motorists. If the present plan of City Engineer John Z. Street is carried out—and there is no indication it will not be—motorists will find operation of cars and trucks a much easier task than heretofore.

Chris Coulthard wants to make the acquaintance of five thousand kiddies next Monday at Cascade park. The day will mark the first Kiddies day. With autos going down and out and others being "shelved" several days each week to prevent wear and tear on tires Cascade park is a near place where children may enjoy themselves at cut prices.

which are a veritable death trap for any Jap or Nazi flyer foolhardy enough to fly at a low altitude over military objectives.

The barrages are arranged in concentric circles around vital areas and military authorities cautioned the public from disclosing their location or numbers.

On another defense front, the whole Pacific Coast assumed an event more war-like appearance as police in the larger metropolitan centers donned newly issued gas masks. The gas masks in their olive drab containers swung at the hips of policemen, suspended by straps over their shoulders and ready for instant use.

Pennsylvania's Home Front

(By International News Service)

By FRANCIS J. BURKE

(L.N.S. Staff Correspondent)

Pennsylvania's women will play a major role in the nation's war production program, judging from Manpower Chairman Paul McNutt's report that the ladies can do 80 per cent of war jobs. As of last January, 40,000 women in the commonwealth worked in war industries—and that's one-eighth of the country's total. The state will know the exact status of the feminine labor supply when the bureau of employment and unemployment compensation completes a survey on June 15.

Housewives of the commonwealth are advised by the state office of emergency management to keep right on with their waste paper collection. But, says the office, please wait until you have 150 pounds of paper before calling the dealer. Paper companies are "jammed to the ears" right now, but the demand for the precious waste will be doubled in the fall.

Staggering of telephone calls will become "imperative" as the war-time demands on wire service continue, says the Bell Telephone company. One-fifth of urban calls, the utility announced, are made between 9:30 and 11:30 a. m.—and many of them could be switched to the later "quiet" periods.

Dr. A. C. Marts, state defense council director, announced that Pennsylvania has only half as many defense volunteers as it needs. He said the state has only 361,570 of the 793,120 required to fill the ranks.

O.P.A.'s consumer division has made available to furniture makers, retailers and managers of housing projects a list of suggested plans for furnishing homes to be occupied by war workers. According to the average worker's budget, families with $2,000 incomes can spend $185 a year on furniture and furnishings. Of this amount, $145 can be spent on furniture and bedding and the rest on miscellaneous knickknacks.

To speed the army's effort in distributing physicians, dentists and veterinarians, leaders of these professions have set up their own "liaison" committees in Pennsylvania. Dr. Robert H. Nones Jr., Philadelphia, heads the dentists' group; Drs. Charles H. Henninger, Pittsburgh, and William L. Estes Jr., Bethlehem, the physicians' committees, and Lieut.-Col. Ernest W. Hogg, Wilkes-Barre, the veterinarians' body.

The Pennsylvania O.P.A. was deluged with the question: "Is sugar rationing democratic?" It answered by citing the fact that the Red Cross and the United Service Organizations were among those groups whose requests for larger allotments were turned down.

How did the government arrive at its various sugar quotas? It studied normal commercial sugar channels, determined the amount of sugar that gets into each home, restaurant and institution and computed how much sweetening was likely to reach each individual consumer in some form or other.
